An aerial photograph of a large industrial facility, likely a sugar mill, surrounded by dense tropical vegetation. The facility includes several large buildings, a prominent rectangular structure that could be a cooling tower or a large storage tank, and various smaller buildings and roads. The overall scene is captured from a high angle, showing the layout of the industrial complex within its natural environment.

College Professor at Work

Everyone here at Manhattan Bible College has come to appreciate and respect both the Christian character and the abilities of Professor John Baird. In just two years he has greatly enriched our school and spiritual lives. With his masterful working knowledge of the English language he is a great boon to the men and women of MBC, most of whom are studying to be preachers, teachers and writers. We are grateful for his immense and practical background which has included the achieving of such degrees as B.A., B.Th., and M.A., with work now progressing toward another, a Ph.D. His teaching experience consists of instructorships in speech and English at the University of New Hampshire, the University of Oregon, and Columbia University. Professor Baird was once faced with the not uncommon but serious question of what to do with his life. Was it to be a career of teaching or of singing? His richly versatile baritone voice would make him well acceptable for the theater. However, his desire to train leaders for the Christian ministry won out, and his singing is now done exclusively for God. In his concern for the spiritual welfare of the college he has assumed the job of arranging the daily worship services and has organized a weekly Bible and prayer hour. To him, for his loyal consecration to his Master, and for his devotion in strengthening Manhattan Bible College, we dedicate this year's MABICO.

Foreword

Another year has drawn rapidly to a close here at MANHATTAN BIBLE COLLEGE. We of MBC have had a great year, one full of learning and inspiration. Our fellowship with our faculty and fellow students has been highly rewarding. We feel that something has been accomplished for God's Kingdom because we have seen changes in our own spiritual lives. These improvements, brought about by study, worship, and fellowship, will help us enter into the world to change it for the better. This transformation, we feel, can only be accomplished by presenting the world with the Christian challenge, that of accepting Jesus Christ as Lord. We, the Editor and Staff of the 1955 MABICO, have hoped to bring out not just a book to freshen the memory, but one which will be a clear representation of MANHATTAN BIBLE COLLEGE to those who are now planning a life of leadership for Christ. Our prayer is that it will help you to make that all-important decision for life's greatest calling.

It is with great admiration and pride that MANHATTAN BIBLE COLLEGE prepares to enter a third year with Dr. Burton B. Thurston as president. The head of the administrative staff of MBC is a man whose Christian character and testimony have brought a great challenge to all who have come in contact with him. Indeed his keen vision is dedicated to the task of preparing Christian young people for places of service to mankind in the name of Jesus Christ. MBC is a training ground for Christian leaders which is growing rapidly under his leadership. The churches of many midwestern states are fortunate that Dr. Thurston came to serve the Lord by educating prospective ministers, for these churches receive the benefits of the toil of our leader and his staff in producing men and women for Christ. Dr. Thurston made an extensive study tour of the Holy Land this past summer. Some of the places which he visited were Jerusalem, Bethlehem, Damascus, and the island of Cyprus. Also included in the tour were several archaeological trips which gave him the opportunity to study modern findings about Bible times. His reports have been valuable to the students in understanding both the ancient and modern aspects of the Bible lands. Now in his mid-thirties, Dr. Thurston is leading the school with vigorous enthusiasm and with a vision of a greater college in the future reaching even more people with the Christian message.

Common among all those who know and love Dean Virgil V. Hinds is the feeling that in him is found an extraordinary consecration to Christ and His work. A man who has taken on the job of an intellectual leader certainly has no small task before him, but one who is also called to be a spiritual leader soon discovers that the pressure of such responsibility is very great. MBC is fortunate that it has a man who is able to fulfill these two duties with the care and devotion that could only come with complete dedication to the work. Some might think that a college with an enrollment of about one hundred students would not require too much time or effort from its dean, but just the opposite is true. Dr. and Mrs. Hinds first moved to Manhattan in the fall of 1936 to begin their service here at the college, and since then he has filled such positions as academic dean, president, professor, and even carpenter and stone mason, as he has continuously striven to improve the college. As if this were not enough, he also ministers to the Christian Church at Perry, Kansas on weekends. In spite of this strenuous schedule, the Dean finds time to minister to the needs of the students, both scholastic and personal. We look to him as one of the major reasons for the strength and progress of Manhattan Bible College over the years, and feel secure for the future with him as one of our leaders.

Student Council

People who are allowed to think freely eventually come up with ideas, and when those people are a college student body, their ideas are received, discussed, and acted upon by the Student Council. The Council mediates between the students and the school administration and strives to keep a spirit of co-operation and understanding in their relations together. The major interest of the Council is to promote the welfare and betterment of MBC.

Sundoulai

The name for MBC's women's organization is a good definition of its purpose, for when we analyze the Greek word from which it is derived we find that it means "fellow-servants." Sundoulai has been in existence almost from the founding of the college and has served the purpose through the years of bringing the single and married women together in a closely knit fellowship of Christian service. Activities during the year include extensive help in the annual MBC Day program.

NOTES

Organizations give constant expression to the aims and ideals of the students. One such organization is E.T.A., which was formed several years ago to give expression to certain phases of fraternal life at the school. The three Greek letters stand for three ideals; hope, honor and truth. Hope is the element in Christian faith which makes all temporary disappointments bearable. Honor is characteristic of the system under which our school operates. Truth is in the person of Jesus Christ, and to know His word and to work in His church is an expression of that truth. It is the aim of E.T.A. to demonstrate these principles and to inculcate them into the life of young men preparing for the ministry.

According to the New Testament there are many obligations of disciples of Christ, and the most important of these is evangelism. Christ commanded us to go into all the world and preach the gospel. Students at MANHATTAN BIBLE COLLEGE have felt a need for a united effort in mission work. As a result, the Alpha Beta Xi, or Ambassadors for Christ, was organized. Members of the organization include those who have dedicated their lives to full-time mission work and those who are interested in promoting missions. The main highlight of each year is the sacrificial banquet which is usually held in the fall. Students give the money to missions that they would have ordinarily spent on a meal. This year the speaker was Spencer P. Austin who presented a very interesting but disturbing picture of world missions.

KRAFT KLUB

Realizing that God had given them talents which were not being developed, several of the women got together to form what was originally called the Craft Club. This was a year ago and since then the name has been changed to Kraft Klub, but their purpose is the same. One night of each month the members meet in one of their homes and launch a new project which will be decorative or useful or even both. The club was meant only for those women of MBC who are sincerely interested in enlarging their abilities and interests, whether they be single or married students, or members of the faculty. Their adventures in craftsmanship have taken them through a wide range of work. Some of their projects have been knitting and sewing, copper work, and oil painting (above). The Kraft Klub has proved to be a source of fellowship for many who would otherwise have little opportunity for such, and also a fine way of expressing artistic abilities.

The Christian Veterans League was formed by the Second World War Veterans, and any veteran of the military service attending MANHATTAN BIBLE COLLEGE may belong. Objectives of the organization are: to promote Christ among the war veterans enrolled at M.B.C., to promote fellowship among the veterans, and to carry out projects which the members of the organization think worthy. The construction of the "Prayer Room" on the second floor of the school is one of the projects the organization has carried out for the college. This year, the enclosing of the college bulletin board in front of the school with the same stone as the college building is being considered as a new project for the organization. These men know the meaning of the challenge to serve their country and to accept the higher calling of God by putting on the "whole armor of God" in order that they may be victorious in their spiritual warfare against the evil forces of the world.

ON THESE TWO PAGES, A TYPICAL DAY AT MANHATTAN BIBLE COLLEGE

HOME after a busy week-end at their church, GENE and VIRGINIA ACUFF settle down for another week of school.

DREAMING, perhaps, of his home in Syria, SAMMY BRAKE attempts to get caught up on sleep before classes.

MORNING RUSH at Christine House. Getting to an eight o'clock class on time is easier said than done.

IN MEMORIAL HALL, however, there is always time for talking things over, such as classes, clothes, men.

CLASSES are usually small and this proves to be a tremendous advantage to the individual. Above, Greek.

THANKS are expressed before every meal in the dining hall. Most single students eat three meals here.

HYMN SINGING after dinner. The lounge in Memorial Hall serves as a fellowship center for single students.

THE SWEET SHOP, which offers candy and soft drinks, is provided by the Senior Class. A popular place.

THE LOUNGE provides a good spot to relax between classes. The place to study, visit, or catch a short nap.

MARRIED STUDENTS often have families to care for while going to college. The FIRKINS family prepares for bed.

STUDYING often extends well into early hours. Here VIRGIL BUNKER and MARK ZIMMERMAN are into it.

DEVOTIONS bring the day to a close. Developing strong spiritual character is uppermost here at MBC.

Commonly referred to as the "girls' dorm", Memorial Hall is home for all the single women of MBC. Here twenty girls share the many experiences of college life—the joys, sorrows, devotion and study. The Hall is so named because in it are found many gift memorials which include rooms, furniture, and the dining hall. These reflect back and remind us of the devotion of Christian people who have sacrificed to make Manhattan Bible College possible. With the unforgettable cry of "roommate" ringing in the halls, the women of MBC work with their leaders, Martha Amlong and Harriet Irwin, to achieve success in building Christian character. The memories of fun and accomplishment which are formed here will be treasured possessions never to be lost.

The above young men have come to MBC from cities, towns, and farms in Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, and Syria. They have all come with the same ambition which is to learn God's Word and then to preach and teach it to the world. Becoming and being a minister is anything but easy, and with the task come many heartaches, but these are all forgotten in the joy of seeing souls being won to Christ partly as a result of their efforts. It is the greatest calling in life, and the man who undertakes it has a full and tremendous job cut out for him. Shepherdess of this flock of "lambs" is Mrs. T.H. Johnson, wife of the late president and founder of MBC. She guides them with the love and gentle firmness they need in this home away from home. Christine House provides rooms for the men and apartments for Mother Johnson and three married couples.

Worship

Deeply rooted in the Christian heart is the realization that communication with God is not only possible, but extremely vital as well. All MBC students, faculty, and staff members take advantage of the many opportunities provided for this purpose. MBC is dedicated to the task of teaching young people how to worship and does so by making singing, praying, and preaching the focal points of Bible college life.

RONNIE JEAN PRIGEL and BETTY JEFFERS take advantage of MBC's fine facilities for study. Behind them is the new display stack for periodicals. A system of hinged doors gives access to many months of back issues. MBC's library serves not only the regular student body, but the Manhattan community as well.

The Library

The library, one of the fastest growing aspects of the school, now numbers nine thousand volumes. The entire library is catalogued. MARTHA AMLONG(left), head librarian, is well trained for this position and is able to assist the students in finding information which they need.

MARY AIKEY, assistant librarian, checks out a book to ORLEY HERMON. The students of MBC have a wealth of religious knowledge at their fingertips and soon find that the library is their main center of business. There is also provided a large film strip selection which often helps the student ministers and youth directors in their week-end work.

All-School Banquet

The month of May is entered into with a great deal of expectancy by college students. Not only is the end of the school year approaching, but there are many events scheduled which are sure to help bring the year to a memorable close. One of the best of these is the all-school banquet. Considered a semi-formal occasion, the banquet is held for the purpose of enjoying good food and an inspiring message in a Christian atmosphere. This year's event well lived up to these requirements. Shown here is Paul Walker, who gave us a real challenge for the Christian ministry.

Graduation

This is the climax in every student's college career, the magnificent time which finally rolls around after four years of intense work. The day of graduation means a great deal more than just the receiving of a diploma, it means that here is an individual who has given himself in order to achieve something real and lasting. Though it has meant the sacrifice of several of the years of his youth, he now knows that his life will be far richer because of his effort. Pictured here in 1954's program are the processional, the MBC Choir led by Prof. Baird, Brother Ting Champie bringing the address, and President Thurston awarding degrees.

SPORTS

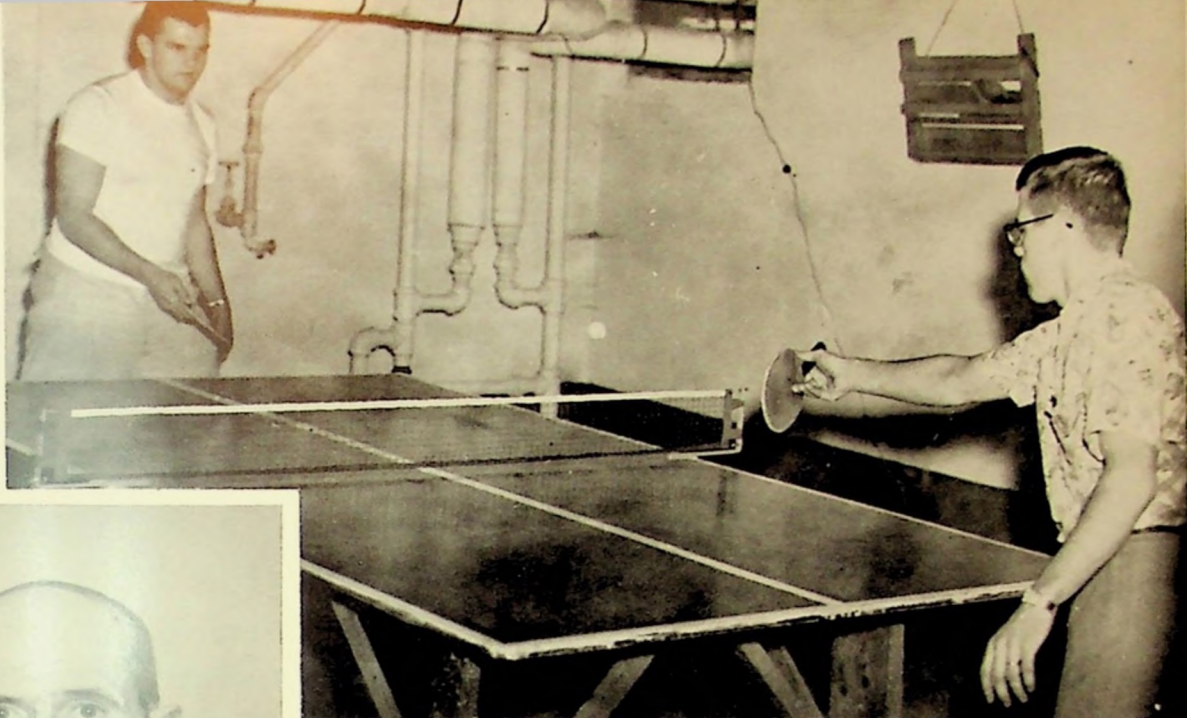

BASKETBALL

is the major sport here at MBC. Playing in regular inter-scholastic events, the team has performed admirably this year. They have traveled many miles and have often done advance studying to make up for absences. Basketball in particular has offered our men many chances for practicing fair play and sportsmanship, and has undoubtedly helped to insure their future success.

MABICO Staff

Lest anyone should have the idea that life around a Bible college is dull, this year's MABICO is designed to correct that impression. We realize that the brevity of a year book cannot take the place of actual experience, but we hope that this one will be a fair representation of the attitudes, emotions, and accomplishments of a group of Christian young people who have made it their life's work to serve God. Recently, a passer-by was heard to say sarcastically in reference to Bible college life, "Now, that must be exciting!" Little did he realize that he had hit the proverbial nail right on the head. The average MBC student's schedule is not made up of the regular five days in the classroom and a week-end to relax. Instead, the week-end is perhaps even busier. Most of the students have a weekly routine something like this: A full college course is crowded into four days. Friday evening the trip to the church begins which may be as far as 200 miles away. Saturday is spent in pastoral duties and study, and Sunday involves the preaching of two sermons and usually the teaching of one or more classes. Monday is spent traveling back to Manhattan, unpacking, and studying for the Tuesday classes. In other words, there is almost no time for relaxation, and consequently, this preparation for the Christian ministry rapidly separates the men from the boys. Far from being a grind, the work is both satisfying and rewarding, and the students consider it a privilege to serve in this way. We have hoped to avoid formality in this book and have desired to show that MANHATTAN BIBLE COLLEGE consists of people who are united by spirit and purpose into a family-type relationship which is unique. Trusting in God, we are confident that MBC will continue to expand in its facilities and spiritual influence and will be able to spread even farther the Gospel of Jesus Christ our Lord. The staff: Walter George, Editor-Photographer; Warren Jackson, Business Manager; Lewis Myers, Business Assistant; Mary Aikey, Edgar Sample, Jim Barnes, Lynn Firkins, and Dolores Dirks, Copy Writers.
